From supply chain strategies and global competition to customer satisfaction and cost containment, manufacturing enterprises have to contend with many priorities in today's environment. Balancing these priorities means making complex decisions—such as choosing when to add capacity to reduce backlog or reduce inventory levels to anticipate a market shift. You need detailed information and a clear picture of how different strategies could affect your business.

Let Boyer & Ritter's expert knowledge work for you. Our professionals can help you increase operational efficiency, reduce tax burdens, manage employee benefit costs and prepare for changes impacting your industry. Our knowledgeable staff count among their clients a diverse range of manufacturing companies in sectors such as building materials, food processing, specialty sporting goods, commercial lighting, petroleum products, pharmaceuticals, metal fabrication, textiles and clothing, publishing, industrial equipment and much more. Whatever the size of your venture, our team can help you meet your goals, now and for the future.

In addition to traditional audit, accounting, and tax services, B&R's Manufacturing and Distribution Group offers personalized, innovative strategies to help clients increase profitability. This is rooted in the B&R Advantage, our firm's unique philosophy of client service, that seeks to work with you to meet both your business and personal financial goals in ways that leave both you and your company in a stronger position for the future.

With extensive experience in all facets of the operational and financial management of manufacturing businesses, B&R has the specialized expertise, coupled with the in-depth advisory support that you need to help maximize efficiency and build profits.
