Property tax indexes. State funding formulas. Mandated services. Healthcare costs. Building programs. Population forecasts. Public school districts face a virtually unending list of questions and competing priorities as they organize and execute their budgets. At the same time, they are the form of government that is often closest to the public, bearing enormous responsibilities and facing constant scrutiny.

Helping school districts develop, manage and deploy their resources, and effectively report on that progress, is a team effort. At Boyer & Ritter, we are committed to bringing in-depth expertise and real-world strategies to your school district's financial management team. The cornerstone of our approach to our school district practice begins with the B&R Advantage, our firm's unique philosophy of client service, in which we focus on the unique needs of each District and customize our services to meet the needs of that District. Our dedicated expertise in school district accounting and advisory services has helped make an impact in many communities.

B&R is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants' (AICPA) Governmental Audit Quality Center for CPA firms. The Center is a national community of CPA firms that demonstrates a commitment to governmental audit quality while raising awareness about the importance of governmental audits nationally.

We want your school district to build a strong financial foundation that can effectively respond to any number of changes in the surrounding fiscal environment. From advisory support to auditing services, B&R is ready to help your school district prepare for the future.
